

Just as well trained horses stay calm in rowdy crowds and can be entrusted with the lives of their riders, so too people who have trained themselves to stay serene when abused will be greatly valued in all situations.

